

DER FUEHRER'S STRATEGY AIMS AT ENCIRCLEMENT OF PARIS

French Defense Pierced

German Troops Move Fast Through Two Lowland Areas

BERLIN, May 15—With the northwestern extension of the Maginot Line already pierced by the fast-moving German troops every indication pointed today to the fact that Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler has revived on a grand-scale the famous old Von Schlieffen plan for encirclement of Paris.

Already assured of complete success in Holland and now in possession of bases only thirty minutes away from aerial objectives in England, the Fuehrer is turning full attention to the Western Front.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Responsible military sources in London and Paris admitted that the Germans had entered certain "defense zones" south of Sedan and the Meuse but insisted there was no question of the Maginot Line having been broken or turned. At best, it was said in London, the Germans have made a "dent" in the fortified zone running from the Luxembourg frontier to the sea.)

PARIS, May 15—German troops have crossed the Meuse River at Sedan and at present are occupying a pocket about four miles deep across the river, a French military spokesman said today.

PARIS, May 15—Radio news broadcasts were silenced at 11:35 a. m. today.

By International News Service
Allied and German forces clashed in mighty combat today on an historic battlefield stretching from Liege in Belgium down through German-held Sedan in France and on toward Verdun as the Reich hurled its military machine forward with increasing fury.

Capitulation of most of the Netherlands to the Nazis was followed by announcement in Berlin that German troops had captured two forts at Namur and also had taken one fort at Liege, silencing another with heavy artillery fire.

At Paris a military spokesman said German troops had crossed the Meuse River at Sedan and are now occupying a pocket about four miles deep across the battle-stormed stream.

War Goes On
Despite the order of the commander-in-chief of the Dutch armed forces to cease resistance, save in Zeeland province, where fighting continued, the Netherlands government in London de-

CAPITAL FEARS IL DUCE READY TO JOIN HITLER

Officials Pessimistic In Their Opinion About Italy's Step

OPPORTUNITY PREVAILS

Demonstrations In Rome Cited As Indication Of Sentiment

WASHINGTON, May 15—A belief that Italy is preparing very soon to enter the European war on Germany's side was strongly held today in Washington official and diplomatic quarters.

In view of a hope that "eighth-hour" efforts of American diplomacy might yet prevent a spread of war to the Mediterranean, officials were extremely restrained in their public statements. Privately they were pessimistic.

Ambassador William Phillips in Rome was reported to be in constant and close touch with the Italian government. For the last two weeks he has tried through every means consistent with his position as a neutral diplomat to demonstrate to the Duce's government the advantages of remaining at peace.

Dolf Hitler's smashing success in his northern "blitzkrieg," however, is understood to have weighed heavily on Il Duce's mind. Mussolini is regarded in Washington circles as frankly opportunistic, ready to plunge in on Germany's side once he is convinced that he is backing a winner and that Italy, sharing in the spoils of victory, may add coveted Tunisia, a part of French Somaliland and perhaps the French provinces of Nice and Savoy to the "new Roman empire."

Slogans Cried

Informed U. S. officials have no doubt that last night's demonstrations in Rome the Fascist shouts of warlike slogans and the campaign of hatred against Britain—were government-inspired. They do not believe it likely that Fascist officials would have allowed these demonstrations unless the government already had determined to join Germany in the near future.

Many Americans There

In view of the growth of war fever in Rome, keen concern was felt in the state department over the safety of thousands of Americans in Italy. More than 19,000 American passport holders were in that country on January 10.

A very large proportion of these people were said to be Italians who once lived in the United States, accumulated a competence, took out American citizenship and then returned to their native land. It is assumed that the majority of these will not seek to return to America.

However, the number of "bona fide" Americans in Italy has been swelled by many who have gone there from European war areas in the last few months. These are not included in the 19,000.

Phillips has warned all Americans who have no vital reason for remaining in Italy to leave at once. However, the government expects that thousands still will be there when and if the guns roar.

If war comes, the Mediterranean undoubtedly will be placed at once in the "barred zone" for American ships. Two methods are being considered for evacuating Americans in that contingency.

Time Table of Death for Nazi Sky Raiders

GERMAN aerial warriors like these have been dropped into Belgium and the Netherlands by the thousands. They present an easy target as they drift to earth from huge bombers and transport planes, but enough of them have survived to penetrate several of Holland's key coastal cities. The Nazis claim to have occupied The Hague itself, the Dutch capital.

ROYAL BELGIAN CHILDREN SAFE

Three Youngsters To Fly To Italy To Remain With Aunt

LONDON, May 15—The three children of King Leopold of Belgium have been flown to France, the Daily Mirror said today.

From Paris, they will be flown to Italy to join their aunt, Princess Marie-José who is the wife of Prince Umberto, heir-apparent to the crown of Italy.

The children whose mother was the late Princess Astrid of Sweden, who died in 1935, are Josephine Charlotte, 13; Prince Baudouin, 10, and Prince Albert, 6. Well-informed circles read into King Leopold's decision some hope that Italy may abstain from any immediate plunge into the war.

Nevertheless, they admitted, the Italian situation continues on a "hair-trigger" basis.

MANY VALUABLE GEMS REMOVED FROM WAR AREA

NEW YORK, May 15—Fabulous fortunes in diamonds have been successfully removed from the Netherlands and Belgium to places of safe keeping in France and England, according to private information reaching New York diamond cutters today.

The diamonds were safely transferred from Amsterdam and Antwerp, two of the world's great diamond cutting centers, in accordance with pre-arranged plans despite the rapidity of the Nazi advance, according to a cable received by Louis Baumgold, head of a New York diamond cutting firm. The Nazis were said to be especially anxious to seize the diamonds to bolster German finances and also for industrial uses.

COLBERT AND AMECE

Claudette Colbert and Don Ameche are co-stars once more

when the Radio Theatre presents a radio version of their movie hit, "Midnight," on Monday. Cecil B. DeMille is the producer of the full-hour dramatic program over the Columbia network at 8 p. m.

So well do Miss Colbert and Ameche work together that it was she who asked Mr. DeMille if he couldn't sign the D. B. of movies and radio to play opposite her. "C. B." checked on Ameche's cinema schedule and found that he was available for the part.

JARMILA NOVOTNA IN MUSIC HALL

Ever loyal to the graduates of the Music Hall, Bing Crosby has invited "the most beautiful opera star in the world," Jarmila Novotna, to make her second appearance on his program on Thursday. Miss Novotna made her radio debut in the Music Hall before her operatic debut last fall at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York City.

Brian Aherne, of the stage and films, and David Butler, the director of Crosby's new picture, "If I Had My Way," complete the guest-roster for the broadcast over the NBC red network at 9 p. m. Bing's regular company includes Bob Burns, the Music Madi and John Scott Trotter's orchestra.

Even though she had been in this country only a few months when she last appeared with Bing, he was amazed at Miss Novotna's command of the English language. The Czechoslovakian opera star will sing two numbers around a chat with Professor Crosby.

Bing will take his vocal work-outs on, "Meet the Sun Half Way," "Imagination," "Angel in Disguise," "Too Romantic," and for his 1925 Memory Song, "Cecialia."

If war comes, the Mediterranean undoubtedly will be placed at once in the "barred zone" for American ships. Two methods are being considered for evacuating Americans in that contingency.

Time Table of Death for Nazi Sky Raiders

GERMAN aerial warriors like these have been dropped into Belgium and the Netherlands by the thousands. They present an easy target as they drift to earth from huge bombers and transport planes, but enough of them have survived to penetrate several of Holland's key coastal cities. The Nazis claim to have occupied The Hague itself, the Dutch capital.

ROYAL BELGIAN CHILDREN SAFE

Three Youngsters To Fly To Italy To Remain With Aunt

LONDON, May 15—The three children of King Leopold of Belgium have been flown to France, the Daily Mirror said today.

From Paris, they will be flown to Italy to join their aunt, Princess Marie-José who is the wife of Prince Umberto, heir-apparent to the crown of Italy.

The children whose mother was the late Princess Astrid of Sweden, who died in 1935, are Josephine Charlotte, 13; Prince Baudouin, 10, and Prince Albert, 6.

Well-informed circles read into King Leopold's decision some hope that Italy may abstain from any immediate plunge into the war.

Nevertheless, they admitted, the Italian situation continues on a "hair-trigger" basis.

MANY VALUABLE GEMS REMOVED FROM WAR AREA

NEW YORK, May 15—Fabulous fortunes in diamonds have been successfully removed from the Netherlands and Belgium to places of safe keeping in France and England, according to private information reaching New York diamond cutters today.

The diamonds were safely transferred from Amsterdam and Antwerp, two of the world's great diamond cutting centers, in accordance with pre-arranged plans despite the rapidity of the Nazi advance, according to a cable received by Louis Baumgold, head of a New York diamond cutting firm. The Nazis were said to be especially anxious to seize the diamonds to bolster German finances and also for industrial uses.

The Couth Sydney Methodist mission in Australia invites its congregation to subscribe buttons to the church funds.

One would be to seek safe conduct from both belligerents for one or more American ships to visit an Italian port and return to the Atlantic. Another would be to transport the refugees by rail to a Spanish or southern French port.

New Developments Being Traced in Horticulture

COLUMBUS, May 15—Water, temperature, air, soil and other simple elements affecting the growth of plants are being reexamined these days, according to Professor J. H. Gourley, of the department of horticulture, Ohio State University.

Gourley was a speaker before the Ohio academy of science last week, on new developments in horticulture.

Water can no longer be regarded as merely water, he said, when plants are found to grow better when watered with melted ice water than when simple water is used.

Temperature is receiving close scrutiny because of its influence on growth, anatomy, and metabolism of the plant.

Citing light as another factor, Gourley says that manipulation of the length of the greenhouse "day" by lighting control has practically eliminated the early California crop of chrysanthemums from Ohio markets and has extended the "mum" season from three to six months. Other flowers have responded similarly.

Growth of plants without soil is cited as another important development, and "better quality flowers are being grown in a medium of gravel, cinder, or a similar inert material than in soil. Tests with tomatoes give reason to believe that they may be grown profitably without soil."

It has been shown that in the case of orchard soils the turning of green crops into the soil has resulted in a net loss of organic matter as compared with land left in sod or where trees were mulched.

The value of aeration in the soil now holds a vital position in agricultural practice, Gourley said.

COLBERT AND AMECHA
Claudette Colbert and Don Ameche are co-stars once more

when the Radio Theatre presents a radio version of their movie hit, "Midnight," on Monday. Cecil B. DeMille is the producer of the full-hour dramatic program over the Columbia network at 8 p. m.

So well do Miss Colbert and Ameche work together that it was she who asked Mr. DeMille if he couldn't sign the Don of movies and radio to play opposite her. "C. B." checked on Ameche's cinema schedule and found that he was available for the part.

Ever loyal to the graduates of the Music Hall, Bing Crosby has invited "the most beautiful opera star in the world," Jarmila Novotna, to make her second appearance on his program on Thursday. Miss Novotna made her radio debut in the Music Hall before her operatic debut last fall at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York City.

Brian Aherne, of the stage and films, and David Butler, the director of Crosby's new picture, "If I Had My Way," complete the guest-roster for the broadcast over the NBC red network at 9 p. m. Bing's regular company includes Bob Burns, the Music Maids and John Scott Trotter's orchestra.

Even though she had been in this country only a few months when she last appeared with Bing, he was amazed at Miss Novotna's command of the English language. The Czechoslovakian opera star will sing two numbers around a chat with Professor Crosby.

Bing will take his vocal work-

when on, "Meet the Sun Half Way," "Imagination," "Angel in Disguise," "Too Romantic," and for his 1925 Memory Song, "Cecilia."

RADIO BRIEFS

Gracie Allen was elected Mayor and George Burns, Chief of Police in Las Vegas, Nevada on May 9, after a spectacular torch light procession there.

Proving once again that marriage doesn't cause a star to lose his glamour is the fact that Les Tremayne's fan mail has doubled since his marriage, and most of the letters are from women.

Frances Langford, Star Theatre's songstress, despite original plans to cast her in a straight dramatic role in "Dreaming Out Loud" will sing after all because fast as U. S. forces could concentrate against them.

Germany, however, is not likely to bother with New England. Far wealthier, far more important are the oil fields of Venezuela, the tropical plantations of Brazil, the wheat fields of Argentina. Here there are large groups of German and Italian settlers. And here, rather than in the more crowded areas of Europe, are the real outlets for excess German population.

IMPORTANT FACT: The Low Countries now invaded by Hitler are among the most densely populated in the world, have no raw materials. Outside of Africa, the wealthiest raw material area in the world, also the least populated, lies under the Monroe Doctrine.

ROOSEVELT TALKS
The four Iowa congressional leaders who called on the President the other day heard something which left their mouths agape. For Roosevelt told them categorically that he was not a candidate for re-election.

While they were still gasping, he delivered another stunner:—
that he had never seriously entered the idea of running again.

The four callers—Senators Herring and Gillette, Representatives Jacobsen and Harrington—had arrived to discuss a proposal that

Roosevelt endorse a "harmony" ticket similar to the one patched up in Texas. The plan was engineered by Gillette to bloc an Iowa third-term delegation.

Roosevelt was non-committal, taking the position that it was up to the Iowa leaders. But then, speaking with a frankness he has seldom displayed, he explained that his silence on the third term was dictated by international considerations.

Had he stated his intentions a year ago, Roosevelt declared, it would have greatly impaired the Government's position in the descriptive efforts to preserve peace.
With FDR definitely out of the picture and the battle royal raging for the nomination, foreign powers would have paid little attention to the U. S. because of uncertainty over its policy under the new Administration.

"There would have been confusion and chaos," the President said, in effect. "We would have approached the election as a house divided instead of harmonious whole."

Roosevelt also pointed out that by his remaining silent the field of possible successors had been confined to experienced and known leaders, to the exclusion of "overnight sensations". He recalled how Calvin Coolidge, little known as Governor of Massachusetts, overnight became a national figure.

ure by claiming he quelled the Boston police strike.

WILLKIE BOOSTER

Remember the Liberty League which crusaded against the New Deal in 1936? And remember Jouett Shouse, its dapper head, who was a crony of Al Smith and the duPonts? Well, Jouett is now the No. 1 Washington booster of Wendell Willkie.

Shouse isn't tooting the Willkie presidential buzzsaw from the house tops, but privately he is sounding Willkie's praises every time he thinks it will count. He tells friends that the tousle-haired utility tycoon will emerge from the Philadelphia convention as the GOP standard bearer.

The basis of Shouse's confident prediction, as he is explained to a luncheon guest the other day, is this:

"Dewey will lead on the first ballot, but that will be his high point. From then on he will fade out of the picture. On the second ballot, Taft will jump to the front.
But he, too, won't have the staying power; and on the third ballot Vandenberg will forge to the front. That will shoot his bolt. He won't have what it takes to make the grade and the leaders will then turn to the one man who has—Willkie."

Shouse's explicit forecast should interest the other candidates—particularly Senator Taft, who has publicly declared he will lead on the fourth ballot.

the first ballot. It also is interesting in view of the fact that Willkie is the one dark horse who so far hasn't a single delegate pledged to him.

Note—Willkie is trying hard to organize a big Connecticut boom for his candidacy, in order to soft-pedal Wall Street connections.

ending at 11:30 p. m. Dr. E. N.
Dietrich, state director of education,

Governor John W. Bricker will speak, and music will be provided by the A capella choir of Columbus North high school.

fast as U. S. forces could concentrate against them.

Germany, however, is not likely to bother with New England. Far wealthier, far more important are the oil fields of Venezuela, the tropical plantations of Brazil, the wheat fields of Argentina. Here there are large groups of German and Italian settlers. And here, rather than in the more crowded areas of Europe, are the real outlets for excess German population.

IMPORTANT FACT: The Low Countries now invaded by Hitler are among the most densely populated in the world, have no raw materials. Outside of Africa, the wealthiest raw material area in the world, also the least populated, lies under the Monroe Doctrine.

ROOSEVELT TALKS
The four Iowa congressional leaders who called on the President the other day heard something which left their mouths agape. For Roosevelt told them categorically that he was not a candidate for re-election.

While they were still gasping, he delivered another stunner—that he had never seriously entertained the idea of running again. The four callers—Senators Herling and Gillette, Representatives Jacobsen and Harrington—had arrived to discuss a proposal that Roosevelt endorse a "harmony" ticket similar to the one patched up in Texas. The plan was engineered by Gillette to bloc an Iowa third-term delegation.

Roosevelt was non-committal, taking the position that it was up to the Iowa leaders. But then, speaking with a frankness he has seldom displayed, he explained that his silence on the third term was dictated by international considerations.

Had he stated his intentions a year ago, Roosevelt declared, it would have greatly impaired the Government's position in the desperate efforts to preserve peace. With FDR definitely out of the picture and a battle royal raging for the nomination, foreign powers would have paid little attention to the U. S. because of uncertainty over its policy under the new Administration.

"There would have been confusion and chaos," the President said, in effect. "We would have approached the election as a house divided instead of harmonious whole."

Roosevelt also pointed out that by his remaining silent the field of possible successors had been confined to experienced and known leaders, to the exclusion of "overnight sensations". He recalled how Calvin Coolidge, little known as Governor of Massachusetts, overnight became a national figure.

use by claiming he quelled the Boston police strike.

WILLKIE BOOSTER
Remember the Liberty League which crusaded against the New Deal in 1936? And remember Jouett Shouse, its dapper head, who was a crony of Al Smith and the duPonts? Well, Jouett is now the No. 1 Washington booster of Wendell Willkie.

Shouse isn't tooting the Willkie presidential buzzword from the house tops, but privately he is sounding Willkie's praises every place he thinks it will count. He tells friends that the tousle-haired utility tycoon will emerge from the Philadelphia convention as the GOP standard bearer.

The basis of Shouse's confident prediction, as he explained it to a luncheon guest the other day, is this:

"Willkie will lead on the first ballot, but that will be his high point. From then on he will fade out of the picture. On the second ballot, Taft will jump to the front. But he, too, won't have the staying power; and on the third ballot Vandenberg will forge to the fore—for a moment. But that will shoot his bolt. He won't have what it takes to make the grade and the leaders will then turn to the one man who has—Willkie."

"On the fourth ballot Willkie will lead and after that it will be a stampede. Once the bandwagon rush starts he will be nominated by acclamation. He is the ablest and most effective candidate in the Republican field and a lot of the leaders are privately for him." Shouse's explicit forecast should interest the other candidates—particularly Senator Taft, who has publicly declared he will lead the first ballot. It also is interesting in view of the fact that Willkie is the one dark horse who so far hasn't a single delegate pledged to him.

Note—Willkie is trying hard to organize a big Connecticut boom for his candidacy, in order to soft-pedal Wall Street connections.

any public official can boast of—gathered 3,002 votes, almost twice the number that were cast for his seven foes combined. Radcliff's opponents collected 1,933 ballots, John G. Ward, Jr., being in second position with 624 votes. Lowell Brown collected 142, Edgar F. Mauger was given 60 votes, Harry Riffel 319, Sam T. Schlech 402, Worley Storts 373, Ward 624 and Edwin Wilson 13. The latter asked the public not to vote for him, withdrawing from the contest during its last few days.

Radcliff's strength came from every precinct in the county, where city or rural. The general feeling concerning this race was: "Why fire an excellent employee regardless of the number of years of his service."

The sheriff was greatly pleased by the outcome of the primary.

Commission Fight Hot

One of the most interesting contests of the day was that for commissioner, Democratic and Republican tickets coming in for some thrills. Wayne A. Hoover of Jackson Township paced the entire field with 2,597 votes against John John Keller's 1,682. Keller, the only present member of the board running for reelection, barely nosed out Clarence Helvering, Circleville councilman, who came through with a rush in the last few precincts reporting to cut Keller's lead to 57 votes. Ansel Crownover of Monroe Township was fourth with 1,098 and George Eitel of Circleville Township was fifth with 1,061 votes.

The G. O. P. competition was close, three men seeking two nominations. William Green of Scioto Township, reported running with committee support, was ahead of his two opponents with a total of 931, but the race between Lyman Penn and Edward Kreisel, both of Pickaway Township, was a humdinger right up to the last reporting precinct. Penn's total of 816 was better than Kreisel's 789 by only 27 ballots.

Another highlight of the primary was the work of Henry T. McCrady in winning the Democratic nomination for engineer, replacing Harry Griner who is serving his first term. Griner is the only incumbent to lose his place, McCrady collecting 2,818 votes against 1,780 for his opponent.

Robert G. Colville, now serving his second term as treasurer, was nominated again, turning back the threat of Frank Anderson, Williamson, by more than 500 votes. Colville received 2,346 votes against 1,880.

Mrs. Campbell, seeking her second term, was afforded a 2,942-1,107 advantage over Mrs. Wallace. A. L. Wilder, incumbent clerk of courts, took an early lead over three opponents and increased it as the tabulation progressed. He received 1,654 votes, against 1,174 for John Heiskell, 965 for Byron Eby and 508 for George Barnes.

Numerous candidates received splendid complimentary votes, the following unofficial totals being recorded: Judge Meeker Terwilliger, 3,432; Harry Welch, (D) for representative, 2,050; George Gerhardt, (D), for prosecutor, 3,346; Dr. Montgomery, (D) for coroner, 2,121; William Radcliff, (R), for representative, 1,324; Lemuel Weldon (R), for probate judge, 1,379; Sterling Lamb, (R), for prosecutor, 1,288; Walter Nelson, (R), for sheriff, 1,275; Charles Kirkpatrick, (R), for clerk of courts, 1,269; Clyde Brinker, (R), for treasurer, 1,217.

The election board worked diligently through the night but did not receive its last precinct report until only a few minutes before eight o'clock Wednesday morning. Much work remains to be done, the board not yet starting on the precinct committee-man checking.

Precinct committeemen at the Fourth Ward, precinct C, stated that due to heavy balloting in the precinct, they were forced to secure additional ballots from the board of elections.

VORYS VS. LAMNECK

COLUMBUS, May 15—Congressman John Vorys, Columbus Republican, will be opposed in November by Arthur P. Lamneck, his Democratic predecessor, almost complete returns revealed today. Vorys was unopposed in the primary and Lamneck received more votes than his two opponents, Samuel Brodbeck and W. F. Rutherford, combined.

EAST INDIES WORRIED

WITH the Nazi juggernaut rolling over Holland, a problem that our government has been uneasy about for some time is suddenly dumped into Uncle Sam's lap.

Holland, tiny as it is in Europe, nevertheless has a large colonial empire. Its East Indies are one of the richest regions of the world and greatly desired by other nations, particularly Japan and Germany. They produce vast quantities of rubber, tin and other essentials of modern life. Modern war is impossible without such resources.

The United States government also has had its attention on those properties, but for the sake of preserving their independence and normal operation. Not only are we the largest user of their products, but in the Philippines we are right next door to the islands. Japan's mouth has long been watering to gobble them up, and probably nothing restrains her at present except her respect for American armed power. Even so, it would not be surprising to learn, any day, that the Japanese navy was heading in that direction.

Our own navy, after its "war games" in the western Pacific, is now in Hawaii, about one-third of the way over, and held there for the moral effect on Japan. Clearly, a delicate situation is developing, which at any moment might turn American attention from Europe to Asia.

REFORM PROGRAM

THE Prohibition Party is not dead yet, in spite of a prevalent belief. It must have life left in it when Roger Babson, the veteran business statistician, takes it up.

Speaking at the party's nineteenth convention, he expresses his belief that neither of the big political parties can solve the country's problems, and that a new movement must start not from above, but from below. His idea seems to be that the old Prohibition Party is far enough below to fill the bill.

Many will sympathize with his purpose, at least. He demands that the party stand firmly against certain evils. Besides the liquor evil, he lists, "commercial gambling, harmful narcotics, social diseases, cruelty to children, indecent publications, dangerous movies, misleading broadcasting, political graft and injustices." There is room for reform in all of these.

It begins to look as if this war may take in everybody but the Eskimos, who are too civilized to fight.

U. S. MINDS SCRAP ISOLATION

WASHINGTON—Behind the President's speech to the American Scientific Conference was a very genuine worry over the protection of the Western Hemisphere.

The President threw aside a speech which had been prepared for several days before, and during the tense hours just after Holland and Belgium were invaded he dictated a new draft which emphasized the importance of Pan-American unity, plus force, to protect these continents. He even raised the question whether the American nations could stand idly by while dictators conquer the rest of the world.

Behind all this was some very careful studies which the President and his naval and military strategists have been making of Western Hemisphere defense.

It may sound like scare headlines, but it is no exaggeration to say that to the strategists who take out paper and pencil to figure on protecting the U. S. A., Nazi activities in Norway, Denmark, Holland and Belgium have meant the very definite scrapping (for the first time in our 164-year history) of George Washington's Farewell Address on American isolation.

Here is how the strategists figure it out. The keystone of American defense has been:

1. A big navy in the Pacific.
2. Friendship with Great Britain, which rules the waves of the Atlantic.

Assuming that the British fleet should disappear from the Atlantic, the United States would then have to maintain two fleets—one for the Pacific and one for the Atlantic. And it would take at least four years to build a new fleet for the Atlantic.

RED HERRING

One of the weapons of modern war is the red herring. Honor has departed from warfare. The Nazis used subterfuge to get into Norway, German aviators dressed in Dutch uniforms to land in Holland. Italy maneuvered in the Mediterranean to keep the British from sending too many ships to Scandinavia. Mussolini was the red herring.

Therefore, it is not unreasonable to figure that if Germany ever wanted to land troops in the Western Hemisphere, Japan would be the red herring, would send her fleet toward Hawaii. Probably she would not land in Hawaii, but merely maneuver enough to keep the U. S. fleet in the Pacific, prevent it from protecting the Atlantic coast.

At present only four cruisers, plus one small airplane carrier and some decrepit destroyers, guard the Atlantic. Before the Pacific fleet could return through Panama to the Atlantic, Germany could land all the troops she wanted in Trinidad, or Puerto Rico, or the northern tip of South America.

Military minds calculate that German troops even could be landed in Newfoundland, which has, at Botwood, one of the best airports in the world. And from Botwood, they could land in Maine about as Hugo Black, Stanley Reed, Felix Frankfurter, William Douglas and Frank Murphy. And they have been ardent New Dealers!

Whatever president would like to reorganize that quintet will not be delayed for any mere two years. He'll be tied up until the whole five of them die off gradually. They're comparatively young, too. It will take a succession of several presidents to attend to them.

How the supreme bench lines up at present was illustrated recently by its decision on the question of labor's right to picket a strike-bound employers' establishment.

Justice Murphy read the court's finding. It was to the effect that picketing is a form of free speech—consequently strictly constitutional. That was the view that Murphy might have been expected to take. Justice Black, Reed, Frankfurter and Douglas agreed with him.

That also was to have been expected.

GOOD LAWYER

McReynolds is a coking good lawyer. His own associates, while disagreeing with him, say his legal reasoning is sound, according to his benighted lights.

McReynolds isn't an ugly old man; he's likable.

Anyway, the federal supreme court is due to be a bad headache to a comparatively conservative administration, if it happens to get in.

With political good luck it can get the sort of congress to support it by 1942, after a couple of miserable years in the meantime. But, naturally, its opponents will fall back on the supreme court to nullify congress as much as possible.

The supreme court can't do it 100 percent, but it's quite potent. Well, this is a government of "checks and balances."

Furthermore, such a situation may not follow. Perhaps the next administration will be as New Dealish as this one, with a New Deal congress likewise. In that event the whole setup will be perfectly harmonious.

The fact is that Chief Justice Hughes and Justices Stone and Roberts have turned more liberal in the last few years than was anticipated when they were appointed.

Yet, for the sake of argument, let's group Hughes, McReynolds, Stone and Roberts together.

A DEFINITE MINORITY

Still they're a minority.

The majority consists of Justices

Paradoxically, Justice McReynolds was considered a pretty good liberal at the time he was appointed. The court then was middling conservative and he was regarded as promising to be a very modifying influence. Instead, he's the sole survivor of the court's "last man" conservative club.

VERDICT A SURPRISE

Advance guesses were made to the purport that Chief Justice Hughes and Justices Stone and Roberts would be conservative enough to take an anti-picketing attitude. But they didn't. They voted with the New Dealers.

Justice McReynolds was the lone dissenter.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

YOUR PARTNER'S SUIT

WHEN YOU lead your partner's suit against a suit contract, you have two chief purposes in mind, just as in any other opening lead situation. They are to enable the side to gain as many tricks as possible in that suit and to give your partner as much information as possible about the rest of your hand, especially about your holding in that suit. The card chosen depends partly, however, on whether or not you had supported his suit during the auction.

The principal formulas to cover these problems are involved in these holdings:

1. ♠ 6 5 4 2 2. ♠ 6 5 3
3. ♠ K 8 7 5 4. ♠ K 8 7
5. ♠ K Q 6 4 6. ♠ A 8 2
7. ♠ A 8 5 2 8. ♠ A 2

Of course, in the case of Nos. 2, 4, 6 and 8, you would not be likely to support his suit during the bidding unless he indicated greater length than four cards, by a rebid or otherwise, or unless you were crowded in the bidding so that supporting him with a holding not truly adequate constituted a preferable choice among evils.

When you had not supported your partner's suit, your best opening against the opponent's 4-Spades, as agreed to by most of the high-ranking players, would be your fourth-best when you hold four or more, as in Nos. 1 and 3, above, except that with touching honors as in 5 you lead the top and with the A as in 7 you lead it. But if you have already shown your partner length by supporting his bid, your top card in the suit is more informative in nearly all all cases.

With No. 2 you lead the top and, with 4 or 6, if you had not supported his suit, your choice is optional, depending on the course of the bidding. With No. 8, you would usually lead the A and follow with the 2. If you choose the top from No. 4 or 6 and win the trick, your next lead of the suit should be the middle card to make sure your partner does not think you are now blank and ready to ruff.

If during the bidding the declarer had bid No-Trump, indicating a probable stopper in the suit, underleading any honor you hold may enable you to trap an honor of his, but also is likely to risk an early ruff by the dummy. In such a case it is often wise to look for a good lead in some other suit.

EAST INDIES WORRIED

WITH the Nazi juggernaut rolling over Holland, a problem that our government has been uneasy about for some time is suddenly dumped into Uncle Sam's lap.

Holland, tiny as it is in Europe, nevertheless has a large colonial empire. Its East Indies are one of the richest regions of the world and greatly desired by other nations, particularly Japan and Germany. They produce vast quantities of rubber, tin and other essentials of modern life. Modern war is impossible without such resources.

The United States government also has had its attention on those properties, but for the sake of preserving their independence and normal operation. Not only are we the largest user of their products, but in the Philippines we are right next door to the islands. Japan's mouth has long been watering to gobble them up, and probably nothing restrains her at present except her respect for American armed power. Even so, it would not be surprising to learn, any day, that the Japanese navy was heading in that direction.

Our own navy, after its "war games" in the western Pacific, is now in Hawaii, about one-third of the way over, and held there for the moral effect on Japan.

Clearly, a delicate situation is developing, which at any moment might turn American attention from Europe to Asia.

REFORM PROGRAM

THE Prohibition Party is not dead yet, in spite of a prevalent belief. It must have life left in it when Roger Babson, the veteran business statistician, takes it up.

Speaking at the party's nineteenth convention, he expresses his belief that neither of the big political parties can solve the country's problems, and that a new movement must start not from above, but from below. His idea seems to be that the old Prohibition Party is far enough below to fill the bill.

Many will sympathize with his purpose, at least. He demands that the party stand firmly against certain evils. Besides the liquor evil, he lists, "commercial gambling, harmful narcotics, social diseases, cruelty to children, indecent publications, dangerous movies, misleading broadcasting, political graft and injustices." There is room for reform in all of these.

It begins to look as if this war may take in everybody but the Eskimos, who are too civilized to fight.

SYNOPSIS

THE CHARACTERS:
BENJAMIN MERRIFIELD, aged capitalist, hires GAYLE DIXON to make love to his son, Jeremy. JEREMY TUCKER, a shy student of archeology. BILL BAILEY and six pretty girls are employed to help bring life and youth to the Merrifield mansion.

YESTERDAY: Bill finds himself growing fond over the fact that Jeremy had kissed Gayle. Gayle thought it was part of a play rehearsal.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

WHILE HE glumly ate a sandwich and a glass of milk for lunch—desiring to sit with the seven girls who had been so perpetually hired in the Merrifield mansion—Bill Bailey made his plans. Right after lunch he would go to old Mr. Merrifield and confess that circumstances had made him change his mind about working at this strange job. Then he would devote his life to courting Gayle Dixon—a free man to do whatever was necessary.

In his mind he had magnified Jeremy Tucker as a rival of tremendous possibilities, a condition brought about by Jeremy's background of wealth. The $140 in Bill's pocket—his earthly assets—was symbolically, as well as actually, small.

However, Bill had barely drunk the last swallow of milk when old Mr. Merrifield himself came onto him, beaming.

"Well, well, young sir. I was looking for you!" The old man looked younger. "Want to congratulate you and Miss Dixon on a fine start. The little impromptu dinner last evening was excellent, and I note that you have not delayed in launching your other plan—the a, Little Theater movement here. I like that. I like to see plan put into action promptly."

"Thank you, sir," said Bill, but—

"No buts, young sir! Modesty is becoming, but encouragement should be received where it is due. Now listen here. I have another idea that I—oh, Miss Dixon!"

He called to Gayle, who had come in sight, and she smiled as she approached him.

"Yes, Mr. Merrifield!"

"I was just congratulating young Bailey here. And I congratulate you, too. I expect it was your effort as much as his in truth. The party last evening, and the immediate launching of our little ah, private plan. He paused to chuckle.

"It was a nice evening," she admitted.

"Correct. So nice that I want you to do it again."

"Oh! All right, sir."

"I mean, young lady and young sir, that the thought of having a welcoming party for Jeremy was an excellent one. I should have thought of it myself, earlier. We must do it yet. Have a house full. Dancing and music and refreshments. You will know how to have a party here?"

He was almost pleading it now, tacitly admitting his futility in such matters. Gayle was impressed by his kindness, and even Bill showed a revival of interest.

"It shall be done, Mr. Merrifield!" Gayle assured him. "Would—would next Tuesday be all right? That's hardly a week off. The invitations will take a little time. And—"

"The sooner the better, my dear. I am sure Jeremy will be pleased. He ought to be very grateful to you."

"To you, sir, not us!"

She watched him leave the room somewhat hurriedly, then she turned at once to Bill.

"We've got to put that ahead of the play, Bill. And work fast. Goodness, I don't know anybody in his set. Jeremy's, I mean."

"He hasn't got any set."

"That's right. There hasn't been any society at The Oaks in many years. Of course, Bill, that's why the old gentleman wants us to do it all. He's asking us to make a set. To build a new social scheme around Jeremy. Don't you see? It's still a part of our plan. Our work."

Her enthusiasm mounted rapidly.

Humorist Keeps Luther Leaguers Entertained

Prof. Gene Price At Parents' Banquet

Prof. Gene Price of Capital University, Columbus, a humorist, was guest speaker for the annual Parents' Banquet of the Luther League of Trinity Lutheran Church held Tuesday in the parish house. He was well received by the audience which he kept in an uproar of laughter throughout his talk.

Prof. Price brought many important facts to the attention of the audience, including the statement that a survey showed that 53 families own most of the wealth of this country; the industrial war between employer and employee; crime costs $15,000,000 each year; one out of every 26 persons in the United States have been arrested for a crime other than traffic violation; a serious crime is committed every 21 seconds; one couple in every six marriages is divorced.

He centered his discussion on the thoughts that the world needs today trained young men to think more clearly, act more purely, trust in God; thus their aim is reached, "Heaven securely."

After gathering in the reception room the group was invited to the dining room where the delightful banquet was served. The room was beautifully decorated with huge baskets of spring flowers, with tulips and candles centering each table. At each place were distinctive orchid and yellow favors.

Dinner was served by candlelight under the capable chairmanship of Miss Ethyl May and Miss Margaret List, with the Misses Miriam Brown, Barbara Caskey, Iona Quinel, Lena Webb, Georgia Myers, Eleanor Thomas, Mary Schreiner, Norma Wolf, Edward Ober and Paul Walters, assisting.

Ned Dresbach, league president, presented Mrs. Gladwin Troutman who served as toastmistress for the after dinner program.

Miss Josephine Wolfe welcomed the guests with Mrs. Charles Beck responding for the parents. Group singing was then enjoyed by the guests.

A very interesting skit, "The Dancing Dolls", was presented by Gladwin Troutman and Miss Margie Neff. Musical selections of the skit were "Howdy Do, Everybody", "Playmate", "Oh Johnny!", and "Ma, He's Making Eyes at Me!"

Ruth Esther Blum entertained the group with two excellent piano solos. A pantomime, "Too Many Dates", was presented by Miss Mary Schreiner, Gerald Melvin, Ned Dresbach, Donald Wagers, Gladwin Troutman and George Fischer.

Miss Vera Zaenglein played two violin solos. Mrs. George Troutman sang "God Bless America" and "Mother Machree." The program closed with group singing.

The banquet was planned and arranged by a committee headed by Mrs. John Hinrod who was assisted by the Misses Eyer and Maxine Dresbach, Mary Curl, Betty Binkley, Betty Young, Elsie Updyke and Mrs. Troutman.

Family Dinner Children of Mrs. Sophia Sawyer and their families gathered May 12 at her home on East Ohio Street for a basket dinner.

Those present were Mrs. Sawyer, who has just returned after spending the winter in Lima; Mrs. E. C. Brower of Lima; Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Dindorf and family, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Smith of Lancaster; Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Follard of Williamsport; Mr. and Mrs. George Groom, West Ohio Street, and Mr. and Mrs. John D. Kirkpatrick and son of the home.

O. E. S. Mrs. Olive Hurst of Williamsport, deputy grand matron of the twenty-third district, was a guest Tuesday at the regular meeting of the Circleville Chapter, No. 90, Order of the Eastern Star, held in the chapter room of Masonic Temple. Miss Bertha Valentine, worthy matron, was in charge of the ritualistic work.

After the deputy matron was welcomed and seated in the East, Mrs. E. L. Price, secretary, read an invitation to attend the Inspection of Evergreen Chapter, Adelphi, June 11. Announcement was made that the dinner preceding the inspection of Circleville Chapter, Friday, May 17, would be served at "The Hurricane" at 6 p.m.

Humorist Keeps Luther Leaguers Entertained

Prof. Gene Price
At Parents' Banquet

Social Calendar

Prof. Gene Price of Capital University, Columbus, a humorist, was guest speaker for the annual Parents' Banquet of the Luther League of Trinity Lutheran Church held Tuesday in the parish house. He was well received by the audience which he kept in an uproar of laughter throughout his talk.

Prof. Price brought many important facts to the attention of the audience, including the statement that a survey showed that 33 families own most of the wealth of this country; the industrial war between employer and employee; crime costs $15,000,000,000 each year; one out of every 26 persons in the United States have been arrested for a crime other than traffic violation; a serious crime is committed every 21 seconds; one couple in every six marriages is divorced.

He centered his discussion on the thoughts that the world needs today trained young men to think more clearly, act more purely, trust in God; thus their aim is reached, Heaven securely.

After gathering in the reception room the group was invited to the dining room where the delightful banquet was served. The room was beautifully decorated with huge baskets of spring flowers, with tulips and candles centering each table. At each place were distinctive orchid and yellow favors.

Dinner was served by candlelight under the capable chairmanship of Miss Ethyl May and Miss Margaret List, with the Misses Miriam Brown, Barbara Caskey, Iona Quince, Lena Webb, Georgia Myers, Eleanor Thomas, Mary Schreiner, Norman Wolf, Edward Ebert and Paul Walters, assisting.

Ned Dresbach, league president, presented Mrs. Gladden Troutman who served as toastmistress for the after dinner program.

Miss Josephine Wolfe welcomed the guests with Mrs. Charles Beck responding for the parents. Group singing was then enjoyed by the guests.

A very interesting skit, "The Dancing Dolls", was presented by Gladden Troutman and Miss Margie Neff. Musical selections of the skit were "Howdy Do, Everybody", "Playmate", "Oh Johnny!", and "Ma, He's Making Eyes at Me!"

Ruth Esther Blum entertained the group with two excellent piano solos. A pantomime, "Too Many Dates", was presented by Miss Mary Schreiner, Gerald Melvin, Ned Dresbach, Donald Watters, Gladden Troutman and George Fischer.

Miss Vera Zanglein played two violin solos. Mrs. George Troutman sang "God Bless America" and "Mother Machree." The program closed with group singing.

The banquet was planned and arranged by a committee headed by Mrs. John Hinrod who was assisted by the Misses Eyer and Maxine Dresbach, Mary Curl, Betty Binkley, Betty Young, Elsie Updyke and Mrs. Troutman.

CITY, COUNTY GIVE EX-GOVERNOR DAVEY BIG EDGE OVER OPPONENTS

KENT RESIDENT ADDS UP MORE THAN ALL FOES

George White Second And William Kennedy Third In Balloting

McSWEENEY OVER BIGELOW

Nye And Allen Run Close For Favor In Chase For Attorney General

Circleville and Pickaway County Democrats jumped squarely on the Martin L. Davey bandwagon Tuesday by giving the former governor a large majority in his campaign against six other Ohio Democrats. Nearly every precinct of the county went for the Kent, O., tree surgeon who gathered more votes here than did all his opponents combined.

Blessed with an excellent organization in Pickaway County, the former governor started out in the lead when the first precinct was reported and continued piling votes on the heap until his total passed marks predicted even by his most ardent supporters. Daveyites expressed confidence all along the line several days ago that their man would carry the state and, with many other counties giving him their support, he did just that.

Another former governor, George White, ran second to Davey in the county with William J. Kennedy, former secretary of state, pulling up third, all other candidates trailing behind these three.

McSweeney Liked

John McSweeney, Wooster solo who has many friends in this community, almost doubled the vote that was given to Herbert Bigelow, Cincinnati old age pension law advocate whose amendments to the Ohio constitution brought a storm of votes last fall.

George E. Neffner, write-in candidate, was favored in Pickaway County over Edward J. Hummel, against whom the state organization started a campaign after unexpected death of Earl Griffith, incumbent secretary of state, whom Hummel was opposing.

Joe T. Tracy, former state auditor, was given a boost in his campaign for another term in the state house in Pickaway County when he edged Robert Bangham, Wilmington, who was running more or less with the support of the state organization. Bangham gave up an appointment under Governor Bricker to campaign for auditor. Herbert Hoover, an Ashville native, came in third in this county with four other candidates receiving a scattering of votes.

Joe T. Ferguson, incumbent, was far ahead of two Democratic foes for the auditor's nomination.

George H. Bender and L. L. Marshall, incumbent congress-man-at-large, received an edge over Lowell Fess, son of the late Senator Simeon D. Fess. On the Democratic ticket for congress-man-at-large, Stephen Young of Cleveland received much support locally with Robert D. Myers coming in second. Francis Durbin third, John H. Turner fourth, Joseph Sullivan fifth and Kent A. Buchanan sixth.

Cox Over Winegardner

The lieutenant governor nod, Democratic, went to Robert S. Cox here, but the vote was split.

To Be Engineer

Youthful Attorney Wins, And Amazes Politicians

COLUMBUS, May 15—Ohio attorneys and jurists today viewed with amazement the apparently overwhelming victory of an obscure, youthful lawyer in the race for the Democratic nomination for supreme court judge for the term beginning January 2.

The unusual feat was accomplished by 31-year-old Judge MacBride, of Columbus, Notre Dame and Ohio State graduate who was admitted to the bar in 1933. He has never held public office.

MacBride easily defeated William Cornelius Dixon, Cleveland, former assistant law director of Cleveland, Ohio relief director and supreme court judge, and Harold F. Adams, Columbus, a member of the supreme court board of bar examiners.

LONDON, May 15—A "state of war" still exists between Holland and Germany, Queen Wilhelmina's government declared today, admitting that the army has given up the struggle except in Zeeland province.

From this small province—a string of islands sprawled across the southwest coast of Holland—the Royal Netherlands government will attempt to continue the battle.

The government will not sue for peace.

Followers of MacBride's opponents contended that his victory was due to the fact that his given name is Judge, which led voters to believe he was a jurist.

(At the recent spring conference of the Ohio State Bar Association, it was disclosed that several prominent lawyers believed the Judge MacBride who was seeking the nomination was Judge Craig McBride, widely-known Hillsboro jurist.)

MacBride's opposition further averred he allegedly entered the race in the hope that his unusual name would carry him to victory. In supreme court records his full name is listed as James Judge MacBride.

However, in the November election, MacBride will be opposed by Gilbert Bettman, Cincinnati, former attorney general, who was unopposed for the Republican nomination, and an incumbent, Judge Arthur H. Day, who announced he would run as an independent.

That three-cornered race will determine whether the Ohio Supreme Court will have a Judge MacBride.

Secretary of State George M. Neffner, whose write-in campaign apparently failed against Edward W. J. Hummel for secretary of state.

Former State Treasurer Robert R. Bangham, who trailed former State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy in the contest for state auditor.

Harry W. Jewell was far behind Clinton D. Boyd in the contest for supreme court judge for the term beginning January 1.

Outcome of the race for the Republican U. S. senatorial nomination still was in doubt with half the precincts tabulated. Schorr's favorite, Rep. Dudley A. White, was behind his principal opponent, Mayor Harold H. Burton, of Cleveland.

Schorr-approved candidates did carry off honors in the battle for two nominations for Congressmen-at-Large. The winners were the incumbents, George H. Bender and L. L. Marshall.

STATE OF WAR STILL EXISTING, DUTCH DECLARE

LONDON, May 15—A "state of war" still exists between Holland and Germany, Queen Wilhelmina's government declared today, admitting that the army has given up the struggle except in Zeeland province.

"Enemy troops in great numbers succeeded in crossing the Moerdijk bridge (south of Rotterdam) and have retaken Rotterdam which previously had been heavily bombarded.

"Consequently, the heart of the country was laid open to the enemy and the main forces of the army behind the Dutch waterline were threatened with immediate enemy attacks in their rear.

"Under these circumstances, in order to avoid complete destruction of the country, the commander-in-chief was of the opinion that further resistance was useless.

CITY, COUNTY GIVE EX-GOVERNOR DAVEY BIG EDGE OVER OPPONENTS

KENT RESIDENT ADDS UP MORE THAN ALL FOES

George White Second And William Kennedy Third In Balloting

McSWEENEY OVER BIGELOW

Nye And Allen Run Close For Favor In Chase For Attorney General

Circleville and Pickaway County Democrats jumped squarely on the Martin L. Davey bandwagon Tuesday by giving the former governor a large majority in his campaign against six other Ohio Democrats. Nearly every precinct of the county went for the Kent, O., tree surgeon who gathered more votes here than did all his opponents combined.

Blessed with an excellent organization in Pickaway County, the former governor started out in the lead when the first precinct was reported and continued piling votes on the heap until his total passed marks predicted even by his most ardent supporters. Daveyites expressed confidence all along the line several days ago that their man would carry the state and, with many other counties giving him their support, he did just that.

Another former governor, George White, ran second to Davey in the county with William J. Kennedy, former secretary of state, pulling up third, all other candidates trailing behind these three.

McSweeney Liked

John McSweeney, Wooster son who has many friends in this community, almost doubled the vote that was given to Herbert Bigelow, Cincinnati old age pension law revision advocate whose amendments to the Ohio constitution brought a storm of votes last fall.

George E. Neffner, write-in candidate, was favored in Pickaway County over Edward J. Hummel, against whom the state organization started a campaign after unexpected death of Earl Griffith, incumbent secretary of state, whom Hummel was opposing.

Joe T. Tracy, former state auditor, was given a boost in his campaign for another term in the state house in Pickaway County when he edged Robert Bangham, Wilmington, who was running more or less with the support of the state organization. Bangham gave up an appointment under Governor Bricker to campaign for auditor. Herbert Hoover, an Ashville native, came in third in this county with four other candidates receiving a scattering of votes.

Joe T. Ferguson, incumbent, was far ahead of two Democratic foes for the auditor's nomination.

George H. Bender and L. L. Marshall, incumbent congress man-at-large, received an edge over Lowell Fess, son of the late Senator Simeon D. Fess. On the Democratic ticket for congressman-at-large, Stephen Young of Cleveland received much support locally with Robert D. Myers coming in second, Francis Durbin third, John H. Turner fourth, Joseph Sullivan fifth and Kent A. Buchanan sixth.

Cox Over Winegardner

The lieutenant governor nod, Democratic, went to Robert S. Cox here, but the vote was split.
